

Abstract

A method for forming contacts on a semiconductor device is provided. The method includes the steps of forming an opening on a gate contact area, depositing a dielectric layer on a bit-line contact area and the opening, coating a photoresist to etch the dielectric layer, removing the photoresist and finally forming a conductive layer on a bit-line contact opening and a gate contact opening.